Forecast For Highland & Eilean Siar
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Wednesday 27 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mainly dry and increasingly sunny. Light winds.

Today:
Most staying dry with bright then sunny spells increasing into the afternoon from the north. However a few isolated light rain, sleet and snow showers will appear, mainly confined to the morning and to areas north of the Black Isle. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Tonight:
Dry. Widespread deep frost. Limited clear spells from Inverness northwards, but cloud gradually thickening and lowering in south, bringing risk of rain, snow to Lochaber and southern Isles towards dawn. Minimum temperature -10 deg C (14 deg F).

Thursday:
North mainly dry with limited brighter spells toward north coast. Rather cloudy in south with patchy rain and snow erratically extending northwards, before clearing south overnight. Easterly winds occasionally strong. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Sunshine and limited showers for Friday and Saturday, with southern areas driest. Periods of snow then rain spreading from the southwest for Sunday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.